

Checklist for Project Start-up

Starting a new project is a chaotic activity. It's easy to omit important activities because of the complexity of the situation. It's recommended that your organization tailor this checklist so that it includes all of the needed start-up activities.